PART OF JETT FARM BRINGS $311 AN ACRE

Record Price Made For Madison County Land At Auction Sale Tuesday Morning

The highest price yet paid for Madison county blue grass land at public sale, was brought by the home tract of the farm of the late Shelby Jett, Sr., which was sold at auction Tuesday morning. Ed Turner bought the home tract, containing the residence and 78 acres of land, at $311 per acre. The entire farm of 308 acres averaged $250.50 an acre. Mr. Turner lives in the Kirksville section, near the Jett farm.

A second tract containing 145 acres was bought by Covington and Jephtha Jett, two of the sons of Mr. Jett, at $227 an acre, and the same boys bought the third tract of 80 acres at $231 an acre. Live stock and farming implements were selling well at the time the Daily Register's report closed.

Col. Jesse Cobb auctioned this splendid land and is being congratulated upon making such a record sale.

DROUTH HURTS TOBACCO NORTH OF THE RIVER

Although most of the Madison county crop of tobacco is about up to par, and crop conditions south of the river, were good at time of cutting, north of the river, there is a big shortage reported in several of the heaviest tobacco producing counties of the state. County Clerk W. R. Curle, of Cynthiana, who was here Sunday, told the Daily Register that Harrison county's tobacco crop is almost a failure. He said that drouth had almost ruined every crop in Harrison as well as tobacco, and the farmers there are almost desperate over their condition. Harrison, by the way, is one of the largest tobacco producing counties in the burley belt. There are seven or eight warehouses at Cynthiana, and over 12,000,000 pounds were sold over their breaks the past season. Those who are conversant with the situation in that section, are rather uneasy over prospects.

Lexington tobacco experts say that the crop will be 25 percent short this season but that this shortage will be made up by the increase in acreage planted. The Lexington market will open around December 1.

Morgan Gentry, prominent in the Lexington warehouse business, said that while there would be a short crop in pounds per acre it would be made up by the large increase in acreage in the burley belt. "Some of the crop will not amount to 300 pounds to the acre," said Mr. Gentry, "and there will be some so poor that it will not be cut, but I think the demand for colory grades will be good and the prices high."

"I would judge," he continued, "that about 40 percent of the crop in the burley belt has been cut. That would leave 60 per cent of the tobacco in Lexington's market range to be cut within the next two or three weeks, much of it the coming week."

Berea Women In Court

Mrs. Alice Cruise, who was accused by Mrs. Wm. Long, of assault and battery, at Berea, was dismissed by Judge Price in county court this morning. It was shown that Mrs. Cruise had confessed herself guilty before Police Judge W. T. Tatum, of Berea, and paid a fine of $1 and costs. The case was brought to the county court by Attorney W. B. Walden, when, as he says, no action was taken by the police court at Berea. After he had brought the case down here, Mrs. Cruise went before the police judge there, and paid a small fine, to escape coming to Richmond to face the charge against her.

START EARNEST EFFORT FOR NEW CHURCH HOME

The tent meeting at Calvary church was well attended last night for a Monday night service. The tent was nearly full. A most encouraging, optimistic note was sounded by Mr. O. P. Jackson. He stated that the good people of this city are in sympathy with, and are willing to back the Calvary church in the erection of their new building. Plans are now being made to secure necessary funds for the building.

Dr. Green, pastor of the First Baptist church and Mayor Evans also stand wholeheartedly for the little church, as do also business men of the town. They want to see the work succeed and are willing to support it with their money and influence.

Evangelist Tolle preached last night from the text: "Prepare to Meet Thy God", Amos 4:12. He showed that men will prepare for business for their houses, their health and for their temporal welfare in every sphere. Why will they not prepare for eternity? All men must meet God and the only necessary preparation to meet Him in peace is repentance toward God and faith in Jesus Christ.

Services will continue morning and evening thru this week.

(By Associated Press)

SPLENDID MEETING ENDS AT RED HOUSE

The revival at the Red House Baptist church which has been in progress for the past two weeks, closed Sunday night with a large and enthusiastic meeting. Dr. O. Olin Green, pastor of the First Baptist church in Richmond, conducted the services and did the preaching, as the church is at present without a pastor. The interest was fine from the beginning as was witnessed by the large attendance throughout. Many said that the attendance was the best ever seen in a meeting at Red House. Dr. Green baptised 10 converts in the nearby stream Sunday afternoon at six o'clock. The scene was quiet and impressive and was witnessed by a great company of people. There were two additions by letter. A nice purse of more than $70 was presented to Dr. Green in recognition of his services.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

At a meeting held by the members of the First Christian Church in Richmond, Kentucky on the fourteenth day of September, 1919 the following proceedings were held and resolutions adopted:

We the members of the First Christian church in Richmond, Kentucky joined with the people of our country in lamentation the death of our distinguished citizen, Andrew Carnegie, but we feel that as members of this congregation that we should take further notice of the death of this great and good man because of the splendid gift that he made to this church. We feel that when Andrew Carnegie left us that we had lost a gifted and able citizen, one who loved his fellowman. We recognize this fact that by his energy and good judgement he accumulated a large fortune but in doing this he kept his own soul alive and was ever ready at all times to lend to his fellowman a helping hand.

We feel that music had some charms for him and that he contributed very much to its promotion and elevation. We feel that he recognized that love is the greatest power on earth and that oft times it manifests itself through some sweet human voice and some charming music. We are satisfied that Mr. Carnegie fully appreciated the power of love and that he felt as a great poet felt when he said:

"Go tell the first man you meet
In lane or highway, in open street
That he and we live under a canopy of love,

As broad as the blue dome above, and thus believing his love for mankind drew stronger with him as years past away.

We can not but believe that in the spirit home to which he has gone that he will some time sit down by the river of life and permit memory to sweep over his heart and permit him to review again his life here and the good which he did and we cherish the hope that as he sits by that river and fond recollections bring so many scenes to his view he will not forget the splendid gift he made to this congregation and while thus reviewing his life he may hear again how thankful is this congregation for the splendid gift he gave to us.

We again express our thanks because we recognize the fact that the organ he helped us to get, touched by the fingers of a devoted woman, has done and will do much to help our worship in the Lord's house.

Therefore—Be it resolved that we deeply regret the death of this good man who remembered us in his life and left us much to be thankful for.

Resolved—That a copy of these resolutions be sent to his widow and his daughter and that these resolutions be also published in the Richmond Register and Pantagraph and that they also be spread upon the records of our church.

120 BODIES FOUND ON REEF IN GULF

After Sunday's Great Storm Which Took Heavy Toll of Lives and Property

(By Associated Press)
Corpus Christi, Sept. 16.—Bulletin—The death toll in Sunday's storm will reach between 75 and 100 here and in surrounding towns along the coast, according to estimate today of City Health Physician Will.

(By Associated Press)

Corpus Christi, Texas, Sept. 16.—With troops patrolling the main streets and relief trains headed this way from many parts of the state, Corpus Christi today and slowly began emerging from the wreckage caused by the gulf hurricane Sunday, bringing death to an unknown number of persons and causing property damage of millions. In this city the death list at between 15 and 25, but many regarded the number as far too conservative.

In some quarters it was said the injured would exceed 200. One unconfirmed report said 120 bodies, most of them recognized as residents of Corpus Christi, were taken from a reef near Nueces Bay upon which this city is situated. More than 3,000 persons were made homeless by the storm. Fears are felt that a heavy casualty list will be reported from surrounding towns.

70 BODIES RECOVERED

(By Associated Press)
Sinton, Texas, September 16.—Seventy bodies of flood victims, mutilated beyond recognition, have been recovered here, which is relief headquarters for the entire surrounding bay shore territory, which was swept by the tropical storm Sunday.

Forty were found at West Point, 22 at White Point, five below Odem and a few at Portland. No one was killed at Sinton but the property damage was heavy.

Victims found along the bay-shore are believed to be largely from Corpus Christi, their bodies being whirled away from the city by receding waters of the tidal wave. Reports from Odem, Texas, were that the situation in Corpus Christi were "increasingly serious." It will probably be impossible to count the dead there until the wreckage of the gutted streets is cleared away, as it is recognized that many victims are buried beneath the debris.

JUDGE GOODLOE'S DIARY ON WEATHER IN 1894

Judge John D. Goodloe has given the Daily Register a copy of the weather diary he kept along in 1894 when the winter was so severe. What he says about the weather then will be of interest to many. He writes as follows:

From about the last of May, 1894 to the 1st day of December 1894, there was a scarcity of rain fall, in this vicinity, and the summer of 1894, was unusually warm. Precipitation from January to December was 10 inches less than the normal. A good rain fall on Dec. 1st and the weather continued fair, and dry until Christmas. Wednesday morning, Dec. 26th it began to snow, and within the next 36 hours the ground was heavily covered. Friday 28th the thermometer went to zero, and Monday and Tuesday following I filled my new ice house, with ice 4 1/2 to 5 inches thick. The weather after moderated and the snow melted without rain, and was gone in a week leaving the ground soft and muddy, soon after it turned cold again, and a very cold wave struck this section. Cold rains and sleet prevailed until the 28th day of the month. That morning the ground being frozen, another big snow commenced falling and continued until it was seven inches deep. Another fell on top of this accompanied by a severe cold wave which swept the whole country and reached the climax on the 7th of February the thermometer reaching 8 degrees below zero, Friday 12 below, Saturday below, the high wind continued. The weather then moderated for only a few days. On the 12th the thermometer was 14 degrees below. Up to this time we had 24 snows. Thursday the 14th the sun shone brilliantly all day and was the prettiest day of the season. The pure whiteness of the snow in the beaten road and everywhere being most remarkable. The next morning however the thermometer dropped to 8 degrees and the next morning to zero. Saturday and Sunday the 15th and 16th of February were bright, the thermometer reaching the melting point, but receding at night ten or twelve degrees. Monday morning February 18th snowing very rapidly until a very heavy mantle covered the earth for three entire weeks. My cattle have actually fattened but my ewes have lost more than half, probably 50 lambs up to this time. From the Rocks eastward, over the Atlantic and Europe the weather has been extremely severe causing disaster on sea and land. The thermometer was reported at 65 below zero in Ontario and the zero line reaching in southern Texas and Atlanta, Ga.; snow at Corpus Christi in Mexico, at Mobile and all over northern Florida, with eight inches at New Orleans. On the 19th a light fall of snow in the afternoon; down again to 14 below on Wednesday. The thaw then was sufficient to make a crust on the snow which breaks through and makes walking on the beaten paths very bad. On Thursday the 21st I went to Richmond and during the day spots of ground became visible through the snow, but on Monday February 25th when I again went to Richmond to take my daughter to school there was still left a good deal of snow in places, many drifts from two to three feet deep, were still filled across the turn pike.

Staving Off Old Age

Among many other extraordinary plans for prolonging one's stay on this interesting planet may be mentioned that of a South African farmer who advised people to eat every day four pounds of bananas steeped in sweetened whisky, and that of a professor in the University of Pennsylvania who believed that much could be done in the way of staving off old age by frequently having one's feet tickled!

Mirror History

In the early part of the sixteenth century mirrors first became articles of household furniture and decoration. Previous to that time—from the twelfth to the end of the fifteenth century—pocket mirrors or small hand mirrors, carried at the girdle, were adjuncts to ladies' toilettes. The pocket mirrors consisted of small circular plaques of polished metal fixed in a shallow circular box covered with a lid.

THE COUNTRY NEWSPAPER

The average man can live in a big city all his life and never see his name in the paper, but the farmer and the average man and woman in any small town will see their names in their local county newspaper at least ten times a year, and always connected with some worthy cause some faithful service, something that brings joy all through life. The country newspaper in the newspaper that spreads happiness and content.

Don't you always want to read about the ball game you saw the day before? If you witness a fire, you read details of that fire with double interest. If you hadn't seen the blaze perhaps you would not read the story at all. Why is this? It is because the things you know about are the things you like to read about. That is why country newspapers have such a tremendous hold on their readers for they intimately record the comings and goings of their friends and neighbors, the people they know.

Nothing on earth is as interesting to the farmers and people living in the small town as this news of their babies, the marriage of their boys and girls, their social and church events, the illness and deaths among their friends. Year after year the country newspaper records the history of its community.

Is it any wonder the country newspaper is the most powerful advertising medium on earth? Just as its power is great in holding its readers' interest, so is it helpful in shaping thought and powerful as an advertising medium. It turns the printed word almost into the spoken word.

No metropolitan daily, no magazine, no billboard, no farm journal—good as they all are—rings the bell with farmers and small town people as does their home newspaper. It is an integral part of life and other things that cannot be filled by and other medium.—American Press Association in New York Times.

Denatured Alcohol Dangerous

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 13.—Internal Revenue Collector Gilligan has received a communication from the commissioner at Washington advising that reports received there established the fact that completely denatured alcohol is being used extensively for bathing and rubbing purposes. Such use of completely denatured alcohol is highly injurious to the skin and animal tissues, it is stated. It also has been established, it is said, that denatured alcohol is being sold in some instances by dealer under circumstances that assure them it is being used for beverage purposes. Where it is used for any length of time blindness inevitably ensues, and the continued use can only result in death, according to the Commissioner.

First Time Reckoning

Perhaps the first reference to attempts to reckon time by mechanical means is found in Isaiah xxxviii, 8, written supposedly about 713 B. C., "the sun dial of Ahaz." Pliny says that Anaximander invented a sun dial about 550 B. C. The first sun dial at Rome was placed in the temple of Quirinus, about 298 B. C., when time was divided into hours. The clepsydra, or water clock, was the next time recorder invented.

On September 18th, 1919

AT 10 O'CLOCK A. M. ON THE PREMISES

I will offer for sale 250 ACRES OF LAND of land on the Boonesboro pike, about 9 miles from Richmond in Madison county.

This land is some of the best in Madison county and the crops now on it will show for themselves. All in grass except about 45 acres. The land will be sold in tracts as follows:—

TRACT No. 1—100 acres adjoining the land which I will retain. On this tract there is a large tobacco barn. Four acres in tobacco and about 20 acres in corn. Beautiful building site on this tract.

TRACT No. 2—86 acres and a fraction, all in grass. A tenant house. A fine building site.

TRACT No. 3—63 acres and a fraction. There are now about 20 acres of this tract in corn, the balance in grass. This is the tract which Mr. Royce bought from Mrs. Mattie Woods. Another fine building site.

All of the above land is as good as a crow ever flew over and is in a high state of cultivation. Ready to grow tobacco, corn, wheat, hemp, anything that grows in Kentucky. It is fine grazing land and well watered. I am selling this land in tracts in order to give the young man who has small-capital a chance to start into business upon his own land instead of paying rent and giving away a large part of his profits.

The terms will be made to suit the purchaser and will be liberal. At the same time and place I will also offer for sale a lot of farming stock, crops, and implements. Horses, mules, cows, farming implements, shredder and shucker, and other things to numerous to mention.

Don't forget the date—Thursday, Sept. 18, at 10 O'clock A. M. rain or shine. Be on time. You may miss a bargain. Anyone desiring to inspect this land will either call on Mr. L. P. Evans, at Richmond, or at the residence of the undersigned and either one will take pleasure in showing the land to prospective purchasers.

UNIVERSAL ELECTRIC Home Needs

Bring pleasure and comfort into every home where they are used—Pleasure because of their beauty and efficiency; comfort because of the great amount of time and labor they save. The spirit of war-time economy is shown not only in the saving of money and food, but also in the conservation of time and work. It is the duty of every housewife to aid in local war activities, but many are unable to do so because of the great amount of time required for household cares.

Electricity solves this problem by doing the tasks that ordinarily take the best part of a day in a few hours, giving more time and accomplishing the work in a far more efficient manner.

Ed Morrow's Chestnuts

(Elizabethtown News)
In opening his campaign for Governor, Col. Ed Morrow devoted a good deal of his time in discussing old Republican chestnuts. He declared that if elected he would abolish a lot of useless offices. We have heard a good many candidates for Governor promise this, but we have never seen any of the offices abolished. Bradley promised it, yet when he was elected he found a Republican to fill every office at the disposal of the Administration. Gus Willson was very positive that the people of the State should elect him in order to get rid of a lot of them. Not a single office was abolished, and the people can expect nothing better of Morrow than of Bradley or Willson.

The candidate from Somerset also talks about the wasteful extravagance of the Democratic party. So did Bradley and Willson, but instead of decreasing the expenses of the State they both increased them. Ed Morrow can talk until he is black in the face about giving the State an economical administration, and nobody would believe him.

He is no better nor no smarter than other Republican Governors who fell down on the same sort of promises.

We do need economy in the State, but we would rather risk it with a successful man in business like Gov. Black than with an unsuccessful business man like Morrow.

The young Prince of Wales is making quite a hit on his visit to Canada. The impression he has made there will doubtless be largely reflected here, when he comes on his promised visit to the United States. In fact, the youngster is forcing many to alter the opinions they have long nursed as to present-day royalty. Out at Saskatoon Saskatchewan in the wild and woolly part of the Dominion, — somewhere near Medicine Hat, where the blizzards originate, we suppose—the Prince attended a Wild West show. After witnessing the best horsemanship and steer throwing exhibitions the "Wild West" could produce, the Prince proved to 20,000 ranchers, cattlemen and cowboys that "bucking bronchos" held no terrors for their future king. At his request, a wiry little mustang, untamed and unbroken, was brought out fresh from the paddock, while the huge crowd gasped in surprise. The Prince gained the saddle gracefully and held it until the little mount was exhausted by its efforts to unseat him. Then he requested that he be photographed in the saddle. This princeling seems to be somewhat of a "regular fellow."

Smith—Holland

The Murfreesboro, Tenn., Home Journal last week told of the wedding of a former Richmond girl which will be read with interest by the many friends of her family here. It said:

Beautiful in plan and possessing much social interest was the marriage of Miss Rhoda Smith and Rev. Charles Dean Holland, of Culpepper, Va., which was solemnized at high noon Wednesday, in the First Presbyterian church, which was filled with a large assemblage of friends and relatives. Dr. J. Addison Smith, father of the bride, spoke the beautiful and impressive ceremony, using the ring. The church decorations were elaborate and attractive. The altar was banked with cathedral candles. Graceful hangings of white clematis outlined the choir railing and organ. A beautiful musical program preceded the ceremony. Miss Violet Gross, of Chattanooga, presided at the organ and played the nuptial music. Mrs. Ned Anderson, of Kansas City, gave a number of violin selections and Mr. W. B. Carlton rendered a group of popular songs. The bridal procession was led by the ushers, Messrs. C. J. Jackson, Foster Spain, William Woods and Earl Nash, of Wartrace. The bridesmaids were Misses Lucille Smith, sister of the bride, and Miss Margaret Holland, of Seneca, S. C., sister of the groom. Miss Eva Lewis Smith was her sister's maid of honor. The bride entered with her brother, Mr. Peyton Smith, of St. Louis, Mo., who gave her in marriage and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Frank Smith, of Culpepper, Va. The

GLAD TO TESTIFY

Says Watoga Lady, "As To What Cardui Has Done For Me, So As To Help Others."

Watoga, W. Va.—Mrs. S. W. Gladwell, of this town, says: "When about 15 years of age, I suffered greatly... Sometimes would go a month or two, and I had terrible headache, backache, and bearing-down pains, and would just drag and had no appetite. Then... it would last... two weeks, and was so weakening, and my health was awful."

My mother bought me a bottle of Cardui, and I began to improve after taking the first bottle, so kept it up till I took three... I gained, and was well and strong, and I owe it all to Cardui.

I am married now and have 3 children... Have never had to have a doctor for female trouble, and just resort to Cardui if I need a tonic. I am glad to testify to what it has done for me, so as to help others."

If you are nervous or weak, have headaches, backaches, or any of the other ailments so common to women, why not give Cardui a trial? Recommended by many physicians. In use over 40 years. Begin taking Cardui today. It may be the very medicine you need.

Handkerchief Shower for Bride

The following from the Eustis Lake Region, Florida will be read with interest by the friends of the honor guests, Misses Miller and Simpson.

Mrs. Harry C. Hannah was hostess yesterday afternoon to a beautiful handkerchief shower for Misses Florence Sympton and Elizabeth Miller, two of Eustis' brides-elect. The interior home, which is one of the most attractive in town, was beautiful in its decorations of green, pink and white. The lower floor was thrown open en suite and the huge fireplace in the living room was banked in with bamboo, studded with pink roses. The stair railing was twined with asparagus fern, while a large brass basket of pink roses rested on the low post. In the dining room a large bowl of pink hibiscus and ferns formed an attractive center to the large, round dining table, while roses in delicate shades of pink and white were used on buffet and smaller tables. Pink shaded lamps lent beauty to the scene. Miss Margaret Frary presided at the punch bowl, which was served all during the afternoon. A reading by Miss Frary and two vocal solos by Mrs. Wallace Mantey were much enjoyed and added to the delight of all present. The hostess announced that a wedding rehearsal would be proper and the two guests of honor were asked to go upstairs. Miss Margaret Frary rendered the wedding march on the approach of the party. First came Misses Sympton and Miller as bridesmaids, both wearing large picture hats of pink crepe paper. Then the bride, little Sara Hethcox, dressed in full bridal gown of white lace, with train, and H. C. Hannah, Jr., in the uniform of the U. S. Navy. The bride carried two huge bouquets, one of white roses and ferns, and to each was suspended a shower of tiny bundles holding the handkerchiefs. Immediately after the wedding delicious cream and home made cakes were served. The party was one of the prettiest of pre-nuptial affairs given for the brides-to-be. Mrs. Hannah's invited guests were: Mesdames W. F. Mantey, W. R. Quayle, O. C. Lyons, W. J. Calvin, M. M. Hannum, Joel Eichelberger, A. D. Miller, W. H. "AGITATE WRONGS BUT USE COUNSEL"

PRESIDENT SAYS, "DISCUSS INJUSTICES—REFRAIN FROM FIGHT."

SCORES BOSTON POLICE

Montana Hears Wilson Offer League of Nations and National Idealism as World Cure.

Aboard President Wilson's Special Train.—Warm praise for a certain degree of radicalism, yet bitter condemnation of radicalism when it goes to the point of violence, marked the address of President Wilson as he made his way across the wide, mountainous regions of Montana toward his goal, the Pacific Coast.

It is right for men to agitate, he declared in one speech; but in the other he denounced in strong language a group of men, who had carried their agitation too far. Both declarations fitted into his arguments for the League of Nations as an instrument, which he contends will remove the causes for agitation and violence. The first address was at Billings, where nearly 10,000 heard him, in their State Auditorium. This snappy city turned out its whole population of 15,000 to greet him, scrubbed its asphalt nearly white and decorated itself brilliantly. It was a delightful place, despite its small size, as he has visited on his tour. "I have been told that this Western part of the country is particularly pervaded with what is called radicalism," Mr. Wilson said. He was referring to the I. W. W.'s or "Wobblies" as they are called out here, who have made trouble in Montana, and the Bolsheviks, who have tried to gain a foothold. "There is only one way to meet radicalism," he went on, "and that is to deprive it of food and where there is anything wrong there is abundant food for radicalism. As long as things are wrong, I do not intend to ask men to stop agitating." This seemed to the audience and to those close to the President a rather daring thing to say under the circumstances, but his next sentence relieved their minds.

Urges Orderly Methods.

"Agitate in orderly fashion, that they will use the orderly methods of counsel, otherwise we will have chaos, but as long as there is something to correct, I say God-speed to the men who are trying to correct it." The President explained how conference, discussion, was the principal purpose of the League of Nations. "The League," he said, "substitutes discussion for fight—and without discussion there is sure to be fight. Discussion, conference, is the healing influence of civilization." Mr. Wilson was introduced at this meeting by Judge George W. Frazier as "The Columbus of today; the man who has discovered and charted out a new way to a new world." At Helena, the state's capital, the presidential party walked through a lane formed by a hundred school girls in white, who scattered on the station platform mountain flowers. This was the most beautiful ceremony of the tour.

Policeman's Obligation Sacred.

When the President was introduced at the city's largest theater by Gov. Ben. F. Stewart, many in the audience shouted, "We are with you." It was here that he condemned radicalism, which went too far, he said, obviously referring to what happened in Boston. "The strike of the policemen of a great city, leaving that city at the mercy of an army of thugs, is a crime against civilization. The obligation of a policeman is as sacred and direct as the obligation of a soldier. He is a public servant, not a private employe, and the whole honor and safety of the community is in his hands. He has no right to prefer any private advantage to the public safety. I hope that, that lesson will be burned in so that it will never again be forgotten, because the pride of America is that it can exercise self-control." Referring to the Bolsheviks of Russia, he said: "Men who want to cure the wrongs of the world by destroying governments, are going to be destroyed themselves by the chaos they have created." At both meetings in Montana the President, in splendid bits of oratory describing the sufferings which the war had inflicted upon mothers and wives and sweethearts who lost their lads, drew tears to the eyes of hundreds of men and women, and he aroused both audiences to warm applause when he said: "The world once scoffed at us for being idealists, but it is idealism that now must save the world, and we are the only nationally idealistic force in the world. Selfishness failed and ruined the world. Idealism will redeem it." The President and Mrs. Wilson greatly enjoyed the rugged scenery as the train climbed the Rockies, passed over the Divide and slid toward the Pacific. They spent most of the afternoon and evening on their observation platform.

The delegates were entertained by the Chicago salesmen, and this was one of the most successful conventions held in many years. The attendance was between 15,000 and 20,000, and J. S. says they were certainly entertained royally. When asked as to the outlook for lower prices on clothing, he replied that in all his experience he had never seen as few garments on the market, and that all should be satisfied with any clothing they can get hold of this winter.

ZARING'S MILL

The Hudson Has A Patented Motor

The Super-Six Is Its Own Creation and No Other Maker Can Use It. Adds 72 per cent To Power and Accounts for Hudson Endurance

Everyone knows the Hudson Super-Six and what it has done in winning all worth-while records for speed, acceleration, mountain climbing and endurance.

But many have overlooked the fact that those records were made possible because of the Super-Six motor, invented and patented by Hudson.

The first Super-Six quality to attract attention was its power, 72 per cent increase without added weight or cylinders.

But rivals when they saw that, said it could not be relied upon to give long service.

Let Us See What It Did

The makers did not know the full endurance limit of the Super-Six motor. For that matter, they don't even now know its limit, although it has been put to longer, harder tests than is ever asked of an automobile, even in the most famous long distance races.

This was shown in the 500-mile Indianapolis race last May, for while faster cars were entered, the privately owned and raced Super-Sixes showed a continuous preformance of unrivaled endurance.

The first Super-Six endurance run was made when a stock touring car carrying driver and passenger was driven at top speed for one hour and officially established the record. Then that same car was pushed to greater tests by driving it with five passengers and with top and windshield up, 100 miles at 70.74 miles per hour, also making a new official record.

That failing to reveal its endurance, a stock Super-Six chassis was driven by one man 1,819 miles in 24 hours. The best previous record, made by a specially built racer, was 327 miles short of the distance covered by the Hudson.

Then the run from San Francisco to New York was made. It lowered the best previous time by more than 14 hours. And to give further evidence of its endurance, the car was turned back and reached San Francisco 10 days and 21 hours after leaving there on 7,000 miles of the hardest driving ever made to establish motor car endurance. The return trip, too, was made in shorter time than any other car has ever done it.

And 60,000 Users Added Their Experience

That is the number of Super-Sixes in use at the time the present model was announced. Every test and every report of owners served as a help in making a better Hudson.

The patented Super-Six motor called for a car that in every detail matched its quality. New standards were made necessary. Each year has seen nearer approach to the ideal.

Mechanical perfection was not all that Hudson engineers aimed at. They sought to make the Hudson complete in every detail of convenience, beauty and comfort.

For Four Years the Largest Selling Fine Car

Merit is reflected in the way in which the public views the Super-Six.

For four years it has been the largest selling fine car. It is known in every community and on every highway. Present deliveries exceed 100 Hudsons a day. Factory production was never so great and we were never so far behind with orders. Men have long known that to get a Hudson it is necessary to make reservations in advance. On some models and in some seasons thousands have waited a month or more.

But They Know It Was Worth Waiting For

No man can drive a Hudson without feeling a growing respect for it. It grows out of the same endurance the car has revealed in all those tests made when the Super-Six was new. They know the real meaning of motor satisfaction. Their needs are fulfilled.

If you plan to get a Hudson next year, now is not too early to speak for it. Think of the thousands disappointed this year.
